LIFE TERM FOR MCLAUGHLIN

The End of the Road of Crime

MCLAUGHLIN GOES DOWN THE HIGHWAY TO THE "TOMB OF THE LIVING DEAD"
Peter J. McLaughlin, shackled to Constable F. C. Taylor, is shown being led through the crowds on his way to Charlestown Prison to serve the remainder of his life behind steel and stone barriers—a nameless number as the years drag by. Study the picture, you boys, both young and old, who are contemplating a "criminal career." Is it worth the price? Count the aching heart left by the side of the highway of crime, the void that remains after you have passed on within the gates that will never open. Count the ignominy, the shame, the agony of eternity there in a cage. IS CRIME WORTH THAT PRICE TO YOU?

CHINESE ARTILLERY THREATENS U. S. DEFENCE

Shanghai, April 1.—Nationalists are drawing up artillery before the Markham Road Bridge, held by U. S. Marines and Coldstream Guards, and the Chinese gesture is regarded as ominous.

Good News of Henry Ford
Two Chinese Bosses
Useful Lady Astor
Perfect Venus Wanted

By Arthur Brisbane

REASSURING NEWS concerning Henry Ford was received direct from his family, yesterday afternoon. There is said to be no doubt as to his ultimate recovery, although his injuries are serious.

THERE is no further confirmation of the supposition, widely circulated, that Mr. Ford's car was deliberately crowded from the road and down a steep embankment, by occupants of another, bigger car, seeking to injure Mr. Ford. Further information as to that may come from Mr. Ford upon his complete recovery.

IF MORE FAMILIAR with the scene of the accident, right off the highway from Detroit to Chicago, feel that Mr. Ford's car caps is almost miraculous. A man in less perfect physical condition could not have escaped alive, at Mr. Ford's age.

THE TWO big men in the Chinese revolution already disagree. One will not go where the other is, thinking it might not be safe. Two governments may be set up in China, dividing the territory between them. That will mean more fighting, each great ruler will want to be the only one. This country, if it goes, will get out of China, taking out missionaries and fighting men and watch the Chinese work out their own salvation, or the reverse. What they decide to do is not our business.

BRITAIN should thank this country for producing and Please Turn to Page 16, Column 4

NOT A FULLER VOTE IN SENATE ON TAX BILL

The crushing defeat administered by the House to Governor Fuller on his recommendation, that the tax limit for Boston be reduced from $12 to $10, was emulated by the Senate today.

Not a vote was raised in defense of the Governor's position, nor one vote cast for the fifty-cent cut. As far as can be learned, this is the first instance in which a recommendation of a Massachusetts Governor has been unanimously rejected by the Senate.

Only a few seconds was necessary to dispose of the matter. Disposing with the reading of the message, which was already in print, the question was put by President Wellington Wells after it became evident that there would be no debate. There were no yeas, but thunderous chorus of "noes" rent the air.

GUARD FORD ON RETURN TO HOME

Peter J. McLaughlin (A.P.).—Behind the carefully guarded prisoners of his estate at Dearborn, Henry Ford, seated on his back to bed, today began a long period of absolute rest, which his doctors said would restore his health.

Chafing at the prospect of treatment in his own hospital, Mr. Ford was returned to his home last night, a 16-mile ambulance ride, sprinkled back and chest, to minimize the suffering from injuries sustained when the little coupe he was driving was overturned by a larger vehicle.

Bushnell Dislikes McLaughlin 2nd Degree Verdict

District Attorney Bushnell gave audible evidence that he was displeased with the second degree murder verdict against Peter J. McLaughlin.

"I think the race and title of the people would be better protected by a new trial and a new jury," he commented to the court when the jury had been dismissed.

"If the defense wishes to take this verdict, however, I will move for sentence."

FERDINAND IS DYING

Berlin, April 1 (U.S.A.).—King Ferdinand of Rumania relapsed into unconsciousness this evening according to reports reaching here from Bucharest.

Attending physicians said they expected death would come tonight.
The Rumanian censor has stopped all telegraphic inquiries concerning the King's health. The Rumanian
Embassy admits the King's condition is serious, and reports are prevalent that pneumonia has set in.

London, April 1 (A.P.).—The Vienna correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph has received a telegram from Belgrade, reporting a "serious aggravation" in the condition of King Ferdinand of Rumania.

Ferdinand's daughter, Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, left Belgrade at midnight for Bucharest, the telegram added.

SAVED BY SECOND MURDER VERDICT

By HERT FORD
Peter J. McLaughlin of Brighton was found guilty of second degree murder today in Middlesex Superior Court by the jury before which he was tried for the slaying of James Ferneau, aged watchman at the Waltham car barn on October 4, 1925.

A few minutes later, after he had waived exceptions and through counsel had announced acceptance of the verdict, Mc-Laughlin was sentenced to the State Prison for life, the first day to be spent in solitary confinement and the others at hard labor.

Just before noon the fourth member of the robber gang had been taken to the gray stone prison where, early in January, his brother, John, and John J. Devereaux and Edward J. Heinlein, died in the electric chair for the same crime.

With two guards accompanying, McLaughlin was led into the prison office and was registered by Deputy Warden James Hogsett, who assigned him temporarily to cell No. 3. At noon tomorrow he will be released from solitary confinement and questioned as to the type of work he does or likes best and that the prison affords.

Seventeen hours and 23 minutes were spent in deliberation by the jury, the case being taken at 4:35 p. m. yesterday and the verdict being reached at 9:58 a. m. today.

CANTONESE WAR CHIEF, GEN. KAI SHEK, 'FIRED'

Shanghai, China, April 1 (A.P.).—
Reports from actually trustworthy sources indicate that Chang Kai-shek has been dismissed as generalissimo of the Cantonese armies by the National Government.

All indications are that Chang is concentrating his resources in the Shanghai district to defy the dismissal.

There have been isolated reports recently of a split in the Cantonese army, with Chang Kai-shek and his followers opposed by the Radicals, headed by the Russian citizen,
Michael Borodin.

Their differences came to a head at the conference of the Kumintang, or Republican revolutionary party, at Hankow several weeks ago. Disastances said a truce had been patched up.

Chang has had phenomenal success in his campaign against the Northern forces, invading his zone northward from Canton since they dominate the entire area below the Yangtze River.

Chang Kai-shek is in Shanghai, where he arrived after the successful capture and bombardment of Ningbo.

HUNT ROXBURY FIREBUG AS SCARED TENANTS FLEE

GRILL WOMAN, FOUR MEN, IN SYRACUSE

Syracuse, N. Y., April 1 (U.S.A.)—Recovery from an ash pile of a suitman look and other pieces of metal today formed the newest link in the chain of evidence against Henry Judd Gray, accused with Mrs. Ruth Snyder of slaying the latter's husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boating.

The lock was unscrewed by detectives seeking to determine what disposition had been made of blood-stained clothing and a suitcase belonging to Gray.

Five persons probably will be grilled by investigators again today, including Judd Gray and Harry Pink, Syracuse business men and friends of Henry Judd Gray. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bothe, 42, were questioned.

Michael Mahoney, one of the State's strongest witnesses, admits he disposed of a bundle which had been entrusted to him the day following the Snyder murder.

Mahoney declared he had no idea what was in the bundle and did not open it, only carrying out orders to "get rid of it."

Syracuse, N. Y., April 1 (A.P.)—The blood-stained clothing of Henry Judd Gray, charged with the killing of Albert Snyder at Queens Village, N. Y., was being searched for in the Place Turn to Page 4, Column 4.

EXHIBITS IN COMING COURT DRAMA
The small bottle is said to have been taken from Henry Judd Gray, jointly accused with Mrs. Snyder of her husband's slaying, and contained whiskey and poison tablets. The other bottles, the State charges, were found in the Snyder home after the slaying of the art editor was discovered. (See Story on Page 4.)

4 BLAZES START IN HOUR NEAR BLUE HILL AVE.

Roxbury's firebug, dormant for several weeks, is on the rampage again.

For the third time in eight months the pyromaniac spread terror through the Blue Hill avenue, seven street, and Humboldt avenue district, setting four fires within an hour.

Two women, Mrs. Mary E. Moore, 80, and Mrs. Clara Brown, 84, were rescued at the fire in the building No. 72 Humboldt avenue, 4 fourteen-year-old boy in another while in one of the threatened apartment houses seventy-five tenants were forced to flee the flames.

Lieutenant William Nolan of Engine 24 was overcome by smoke and is still at his home today.

The first fire was at No. 72 Humboldt avenue, a four-story brick apartment house, where damage amounting to $4,000 was caused. The second blaze was in the brick block at Nos. 107 and 111 Humboldt avenue. The damage was also estimated at $4,000.

The third fire was at No. 95 Sixth street. While this fire was in progress still another fire was discovered in the same block, on the Blue Hill avenue side. The total damage here amounted to $10,000.

MALDEN STARTS WAR TO REDUCE LIGHT COST

Malden city council today took the initiative in a fight to force the Charles Tennyson interests to reduce the price of gas and electricity in Malden and the surrounding cities of Melrose, Everett, Melrose and Revere.

The Malden council forwarded an invitation to the councils of the other cities to join in the fight which will be waged before the Public Utilities Commission.

The Tennyson interests own the Malden and Melrose Gas Company and the Malden Electric Company, these concerns having a virtual monopoly of the gas and electric business in the communities they serve.

The Malden councilmen are proceeding carefully and in order to secure lower rates. Twenty residents of Malden, all consumers of gas and electric current, have filed a petition asking that the Public Utilities Commission review the rates which they claim are exorbitant.

The petition filed by these citizens will be the basis of the fight that will be waged.

If the councilman bodies of the other cities are willing to join Malden, experts will be engaged to delve into the finances of the Tennyson companies in an effort to prove that the rates are exorbitant.

State Senator Alvin J. Ellis, who was recently accused by Governor Fuller of being on the payroll of the Tennyson companies, is a resident of Malden, as is Governor Fuller himself.

Johnson Appointed
Springfield, Apr. 1 (U.S.A.)—Albert Johnson, president of the J. C. Penney-Downs Institute of Applied Agriculture at Green Cove Springs, Fla., was today appointed national executive director of Junior Achievement, Inc., which has headquarters here for 800 boys' and girls' clubs with a membership of about 10,000 in northeastern states.

BROKEN RAILS IN HUB Y ARDS ALMOST CAUSE WRECK

LOCOMOTIVE OF CRACK COLONIAL FLIER WRECKED

Building a switch, the locomotive of the Colonial Express ploughed up the rails today in the New Haven railroad yards near the Dover street bridge while backing the train into the South Station preparatory to its departure for Washington.

The locomotive and tender were damaged, the engine leaving the rails and the tender backing between the engine and the first car. The end of one of the rails was bent straight up into the air.

The track was blocked for more than an hour while emergency crews worked, but other trains were routed over other tracks, without delay, while the express left the station two minutes late with another locomotive.

BUDLONG SUIT TO BE READY FOR JURY TODAY

Newport, R. I., April 1 (U.S.A.)—Hearing on the suit of Moore & Curry, former attorneys for Mrs. Joseph M. Budlong, against her for $5,000, covering legal fees for services in defending the legal separation suit brought against Mrs. Budlong by her husband, was resumed in Superior Court today.

Mrs. Budlong took the stand and was subjected to a lengthy examination by the plaintiff's attorney, as their own counsel.

Mrs. Budlong will, it is believed, deliver the defense arguments. The case will be in the hands of the jury this afternoon, it is believed.

The Red Signal He's Sorry By Homer Banks

ROSALIND IS INSISTENT—The sound of Helen's footsteps startled them. Rosalind raised her head and stepped back embarrassed, blushing her eyes hurriedly with a handkerchief. Helen with her wise eyes took in the situation at a glance. She nodded significantly to Roger and he turned to leave, pausing to cast a farewell glance at Rosalind. "Good by, dear," he said. "The girl, her eyes pleading, raised her hands in appeal. "You won't do it, Roger, please, for my sake. Promise me." Rosalind did not know what impulse prompted her, but she could not bear the thought of having Roger an employee of Samuel Mantor's.

THE CLASH—Helen closed the door hurriedly after gently pushing Roger outside. Rosalind turned silently and made her way into the bedroom. With a heavy heart she commenced to undress. And Helen! What would she think? Her aching reverie was broken by the entrance of the older woman, who stood silently surveying her with a forbidding look. Rosalind looked at her helplessly. "Well," suggested Helen, icily, "don't you think I am entitled to an explanation?"

HELEN IS ENRAGED—Rosalind with an effort controlled her agitation and met Helen's gaze. "Please don't ask me anything—nothing," she begged. But Helen was trembling with a mysterious rage which thoroughly frightened the girl. Helen leaped forward, grabbed her furiously by both arms and cried, "What do you know about Samuel Mantor?"

SENATE FAVORS AIR BOARD FOR STATE

A resolve creating a special commission to form an aviation policy for the State was passed by the Senate today by a vote of 10-4. The bill, which was introduced by Senator William F. Murphy, provides for the creation of a board of aviation, composed of five members, to be appointed by the Governor. The board is authorized to study the aviation situation in the State and to report to the Governor within six months. The bill also provides for the creation of a fund for the purpose of purchasing aircraft for the State.

AIR TRAIN TO DROP CARS AT TOWNS WITHOUT STOP

Berlin, April 1 (A.P.)—Observers of German aviation developments are predicting a time in the not-distant future when the "air train" will be an accomplished fact. The locomotive will be a powerful airplane and the "pullman" a row of gliders coupled to the locomotive and to each other, as the cars of a train, only with considerably greater spacing between the units. Passengers in each glider will be seated for some particular town, and as the airplane of each "train" is approached the glider for that destination will be released from the end of the string and settle down with its special pilot and its passengers. The possibility of such a development has been worked out by the recent experiment at the Kavarado flying harbor when a glider was hitched to an airplane by a wire cable. It took the air as a "tow" of the motorized air vehicle, and was propelled to a considerable height. The glider pilot then cut his main-chute loose and glided it successfully back to a landing.

ash pile and debris heaps of a Syracuse bank building today.

Investigation of the killing shifted from New York to Syracuse yesterday, following revelation that Gray had disposed of his clothing and suitcase at two different business blocks here.

While the hunt for clues went on, Haddon Gray, unrelated to the accused man, and Harry Platt, both previously questioned in connection with Gray's shattered skull, Platt's stenographer, Mrs. Anthony Boston, and her husband, also were questioned.

Michael Mahoney, a Syracuse police detective, told that on the day after the murder he burned a package of which he did not know the contents. This package, police believe, contained Gray's clothing which, they contend, was removed from the suitcase in the Hogan block and taken to the bank building.

Previous information indicated that Platt had used his car merely to drive Judd and "Haddon Gray" from the Onondaga Hotel to Haddon Gray's home. Police now allege that the accused man, says the trio went from the hotel to Platt's office and later to the bank building.

New York authorities said they would remain in Syracuse for several days checking up on clues. Employees of the Onondaga Hotel and the ticket salesman who sold Judd Gray a ticket the night before the killing were slated for questioning by police.

PROBASCO SET FREE IN MRS. INGERSOLL'S DEATH

New York, April 1 (A.P.)—The resumed proceedings against Wallace H. Probasco, recently freed of a charge of "suspicion of homicide" in connection with the shooting of Mrs. Robert H. Ingersoll, were dismissed today in Hamilton County when no new evidence was submitted.

Counsel for Robert H. Ingersoll, retired watch manufacturer, at whose instance the investigation was resumed, announced he had no new witnesses.

Mrs. Ingersoll was found shot to death December 19 last in her Park avenue apartment. Probasco was found in the same apartment with four bullet wounds in his body and said Mrs. Ingersoll had shot him and then killed herself.

IMPEACHED JUDGE IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Indianapolis, April 1 (A.P.)—Judge Clarence W. Dearth of the Delaware Circuit Court, today was acquitted in all seven counts of impeachment charges by the Indiana State Senate.

The impeachment charges alleged restriction of the freedom of the press, appointment of an unqualified jury commissioner, conviction of newspaper, impugning of official records and other alleged corruption and high crime. The judge said he would be back on the bench tomorrow.

BUSY DAY FOR 'MR. LYON' TILL ZOO RINGS OFF

April Fool jokesmiths caused the discontinuation of telephone service to the Aquarium and Zoo today after scores of calls for "Mr. Lyons."

"Mr. Lyons" was the name of the attendant of their peace of mind. Chattering inwardly, although stern to outward appearance, Park Commissioner William F. Long had the lines disconnected because of protests by the employees.

"Chen" Norton, superintendent of Commonwealth Pier, was one victim of youngsters' pranks. Arriving at work he was met by Bobby Murray, 8, and his sister, Margaret, 10. "The longshoremen are striking," they told him, and he "fell" for it. A rush to his office proved all serene, and he turned to see the grinning faces of his two children in the doorway.

Another victim was "Earl" Connor, passenger manager for the Dollar line, who, like Norton, told the joke on himself. When he went for his train in Hyde Park this morning, he noted the absence of the usual crowd.

After missing one train by inches and waiting a long time for another, he arrived at the South Station to find his watch an hour ahead of time—set that way by a nine-year-old cousin, Johnny Burke.

The whole family was in on the joke and they telephoned to Connor when they figured he had reached his office. The children sat by the phone and had his laugh with the rest.

The telephone operator at Hovey's "Where" reported several calls for "Mr. Lyons" and a checkup at the Zoo and Aquarium showed the usual number of calls for "Mr. Lyons," "Miss Lyons," "Miss Lyons" and all the others.

Goodwin, representing the Commonwealth Service Association, was speaking on a bill calling for general increases in salaries all down the line. He reiterated a previous charge made by him that the present administration is "stalling" on salary increases.

In the first place the resolve of the Griffiths and Associates was just through to delay increases at this time. And today there is no desire on the part of the administration to put any increases into effect," Goodwin asserted.

Goodwin contended that the conflict with the existing salary bill is that it is provisions are not being carried out. Among the various positions that it was claimed showed discrimination was that of fish and game inspectors.

"Last year brother employed in that work," Chairman Shattuck of the committee asked the speaker. Goodwin replied in the affirmative. "And," Goodwin added, "I think I am fighting for the other inspectors. The salaries we want paid to the fish and game men when the judges have been recommended for salary advances of several thousand dollars."

NICHOLS WON'T SPEAK TO THE UNEMPLOYED

Mayor Nichols refused today to attend a meeting of the unemployed men of Boston which City Councilor Michael J. Ward has arranged for this evening at the Municipal Building at Shawmut Avenue and West End street, South End.

Instead of responding to Councilor Ward's invitation to explain to the unemployed his reasons for withholding the $1,000,000 from the unemployed, Ward has arranged for this evening at the Municipal Building at Shawmut Avenue and West End street, South End.

VICTORY ROAD
DUMP PUT OUT OF BUSINESS

As angry residents of the Victory road vicinity prepared to storm City Hall to protest against the delay in stopping dumping there, Public Works Commissioner James H. Sullivan announced that orders have gone out to contractors to dump no more refuse in that locality.

"We are going to try to have the place made into a mother's rest, as it is said the man who bequeathed the land to the city wished," said Commissioner Sullivan. "Our men will go to work immediately and in about a week will have the dump more reasonable."

"I have not received any complaints from residents as a group, and these orders were not given because of the threat of a march to City Hall. If any come here they will be listened to with utmost courtesy."

Action by the city is an aftermath of protests lodged by Councilors McElmish and Gifford, who questioned the right of the D. M. Hagan Contracting Company to dump near Victory road. Their protest, was upheld by the Finance Commission after an investigation. Residents of the district have fought against the huge dump for more than two years and as a last resort they planned the protest at City Hall with Miss Mary A. Jackson, former School Committee member, and Mrs. Sophia L. Fordy as leaders.

HELD FOR OBSERVATION
ON WOMAN'S FRAUD CHARGE

Charged with molesting $5,000 from a seventy-five-year-old Boston woman, Hayward A. Johnson, twenty-five, of Brookline, was sent to the Psychopathic Hospital today for ten days observation.

He made himself a self-appointed trustee of the money of Mrs. Amanda J. Martin of St. Joseph street, Back Bay, according to Police Inspectors Connolly and Laughlin, and after putting the $5,000 in a bank, withdrew it gradually. Judge Bulfinch in Municipal Court was told by a probation officer that Johnson was no probation in Superior Court after having promised to make restitution of $10,000 in another case.

French Envoy Coming

Ambassador Paul Claudel of France, accompanied by J. C. Joseph Flannery, French consul, will be the guest of the American Legion in Boston, April 4 and 5. Mayor Nichols will receive them at City Hall, at 10:30 a.m. April 4.

BARS NEW SCHEDULE;
BRICKLAYERS OUSTED

Lawrence, April 1 (A.P.)—Work on the new home of the Merchants Trust Company was suspended today when 35 bricklayers were discharged by the contractor who declined to meet the demands of the new wage schedule due to go into effect today. The new schedule calls for five days a week, at $12 per day, Saturday to be included as a holiday.

JUDGE JAILS MAN FOR 2 MONTHS "TO FIX UP LEG"

"That three months I gave you last, this didn't do you any good, now," said Judge Sullivan to Harry Shannahan, charged in Municipal Court today with drunkenness. "Yes, it did, your honor," replied Shannahan. "I got my leg fixed up, the magistrate's recorder, and Shannahan was led away to the House of Correction, his denied being drunk."

"PEACHES" FAILS TO INTEREST THEATRES

Although "Peaches" Browning has been officially barred from appearing on the Boston stage, City Councilor John M. Casey, who is connected with the City Licensing Board, today informed Mayor Nichols that "no theatre manager of the city is interested in the presentation of this woman." Recently the City Council passed an order, introduced by Councilor Dowling, which called on the mayor to prevent "Peaches" from crashing the Hub gates.

SEIBERLICH RE-NAMED AS ELECTION BOARD HEAD

Frank Seiberlich, chairman of the Boston Election Commissioners, was today reappointed to that position by Mayor Nichols, who says he also intends to send his name to the Civil Service Commission at a later date for another term as Election Commissioner. Another reappointment announced was that of Dr. Henry L. Bowen, No. 33 Bennett street, Brighton, as trustee of the City Hospital.

RURAL SOCIOLOGY COURSE IS GIVEN AT SIMMONS

Ralph W. Hedman of the Massachusetts Agricultural College is conducting a course in rural sociology at Simmons College. The course is given annually by Simmons School of Social Welfare, for its students and those in the School of Public Health. Many of the graduates of both schools take up rural work.

The course will include a study of country life particularly that of New England—but not excluding the rural life of the United States and Canada—including opportunities, problems, and responsibilities affecting rural and urban social conditions, food supply, and rural population.

STERILIZATION LAW EFFECTIVE IN IDAHO

Boise, Ida., April 1 (A.P.)—Idaho's sterilization law will be made effective this year. Frank L. Stenham, Attorney-General, has ruled an appropriation to defray expenses of carrying the law into effect regular in every way after Governor H. C. Baldrige asked whether the law made adequate provision for disbursement.

All persons in any state institution, who are feeble minded, insane, epileptic, habitual criminals or persons otherwise abnormal who are, in the opinion of the board of public institutions, likely to become a menace to society, must under the provisions of the law.

REECE CLASHES WITH SAPIRO ON LOAN FEES

Detroit, April 1 (A.P.)—Apprentice lawyer Sapiro, who is suing Attorney Reece for getting him out of the Michigan bar, has today filed a $1,000,000 libel suit against Reece.

The time he actually spent at the Michigan bar, Sapiro said, was "several days" in the fall of 1921. He represented thirteen cotton, wool and tobacco associations. After establishing the amounts collected by Sapiro, who for 15 years has been organizing co-operatives and the approximate time he spent in floating the loans, Sapiro said, H. C. Reece, attorney for Peck, switched his cross-examination to the Mississippi Growers' Association.

QUIZZED ON TEXAS FEES.

The witness, who claims that his reputation with the farmers was injured by articles in the Peck-owned Daily News, independent, says his fees from that group for 1921-22-23 totalled $117,000.

Sapiro, when questioned as to work with the Texas cotton growers, admitted he had demanded a $5,000 fee and traveling expenses, New York to Dallas, to make speeches and explain contracts to the farmers.

"Before you went farther than making speeches, reached an agreement that you be named counsel for all commodity co-operatives in the State, didn't you?" Rebeck asked.

"I wouldn't say that was an agreement, but I was to be made counsel," said witness.

CLASHES WITH REECE.

Sapiro was on the witness stand less than 15 minutes today before he clashed with Senator Reece. Turning angrily to Judge Fred M. Raymond, the senator asked: "Your honor, this witness is continually wiggling over time points and finding fault with my questions rather than attempting to answer them."

Reed asked Sapiro as to speeches made in Texas in 1923 in behalf of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association.

"You were still there in 1923?" asked Reed.

"Sapiro placed him up instantly. 'You mean I was there again?' he asked. 'Your question indicates I was there the whole time.'"

"All right, all right, sir, have it your own way," the senator replied, and turned to the judge to protest.

Sapiro was upheld by the court in this instance as justified in not answering Reed's first question.

Sapiro identified an account of one of his speeches made in Texas printed in the Texas Farm Bureau paper. Reed read the article which quoted Sapiro as saying he was not interested primarily in money but wanted to take the children of Texas out of the cotton fields and put them in schools and to take the women from the fields and put them in their homes.

Reed then asked the article, told of the success of cooperative organizations in California, where they had been in existence for 15 years. He told of the change at Fresno among the raisin growers, prosperity following organization of the co-operatives.

All May Live to Be Seventy, Says Dr. MacLeod

Seattle, Wash., April 1 (A.P.)—Human beings may look forward to an average life of 70 years in the scheme of Dr. John James MacLeod of Toronto, Nobel prize winner for medicine in 1922 for his research on insulin.

"I don't think that the average length of life will ever be 100 years," he said. "The human race is passing out just like a machine engine. By combating disease, we have lengthened the average life almost three decades and the day is coming when every man and woman may confidently look forward to living 70 years."

MALDEN WOMEN ARE ATTACKED

stir awakened her. The woman told the police she grasped with the intruder, but the man broke away and fled through the open window.

ONE ARREST IS MADE.

Mrs. Staver did not summon the police, on the theory, she says, that the intruder might return. He did. About 2:30, according to her story, the man came back again and, for a second time, she grappled with him. In the fight the man hit her over the head with an iron bar, she says.

Paul Fisher, a sixteen-year-old son, was aroused by the noise of the struggle. Both mother and son got a good look at the man before he broke away for a second time and ran down through the front of the house and escaped.

A short time later Holland was arrested at his home. Mrs. Fisher and her son, the police say, identified the prisoner as the suspect.

In Malden District Court Holland was subsequently held under $2,000 bail for a hearing on April 6, on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. He was unable to furnish bail.

In the second attack, Miss Arnold entered the Malden apartment, shortly before midnight, as a young man obliging opened the cover of the letter drop for her and she asked if he could accompany her home.

ASSAULT ESCAPES.

The girl told the police she refused, but the stranger kept by her side during the mile walk to her doctor's residence. When she was walking up the steps into the house, the man attacked her, according to the girl, but she broke away and rushed into the house.

The stranger followed her and was pursuing her up the stairs when Mrs. Staples, wife of her employer, was aroused, and ran into the hall. Thereupon, the stranger lunged and fled from the house. The police have a description of the man.

motor last Sunday night. Mr. Ford was comfortable in no position except prone.

Mrs. Ford returned to spend the period of recuperation within a few days, and the spot at which he nearly lost his life.

Standing at the River Rouge bridge over which he had just passed when his car was hurled down the embankment, the roof of the house is visible over a high wire fence and well beyond towering tree tops.

ESTATE IS GUARDED.

Far from the heavily traveled Michigan avenue from which Mr. Ford planned, none of the working city homes which might have disturbed him in the urban Henry Ford hospital will be heard.

The Ford estate normally is guarded by the hospital official, guards and a host of other persons. With the late, the estate is being guarded and fighting for his health, the confines of the vast estate were doubly guarded.

With the removal of Mr. Ford from the hospital official, the estate concerning his condition ceased.

For the first time in many days, last night at about the hour Mr. Ford was being treated, the estate was guarded by the hospital official, continued suffering and normal.

The same secrecy that surrounded Mr. Ford's admittance to the hospital last Tuesday, 48 hours after the accident, attended the return to his estate, near where his small house was forced from the road by a hoover car.

FLOT THEORY SCOUTED.

Mr. Ford, according to first reports, does not believe he was the victim of any plot.

Henry Bennett, head of the Ford organization's nation-wide system of secret societies, was reported to be for this statement.

Bennett admitted that he at first accepted the theory of a plot to assassinate the world's richest man, but that he now scouted this theory entirely.

In his connections are such that within 24 hours after a plot is hatched, he would know it," said Bennett. "Mr. Ford himself does not think there was any plot. Neither do I believe it."

"In his mind, as in my mind, it was an unavoidable accident. Some one hurrying by inadvertently struck the car, and the car was responsible for the steering wheel out of Mr. Ford's hands for an instant and to cause accident."

"I believe this is one of those cases that will never be solved. Our only hope is that people who are trying to solve the mystery of Sunday night will come forward voluntarily."

Since the news of the accident was made public last Wednesday, three days and a half have passed. Hundreds of telegrams have been received at the home of Mr. Ford's weekly, the Dearborn Independent, from friends throughout the country.

Among them was one from Thomas A. Edison, according to Mr. Ford's condition and expressing hope for a speedy recovery.

All of the telegrams were taken to the Ford home.

until single planes have been secured.

The big ship carries ten passengers and while it is on the mail route, passengers will be accepted for the trip to either direction.

The mail plane leaves the East Boston airport each evening at 8:15 and arrives at Hialeah Field, N. J., about two and a half hours later. Returning, the plane hops off from Hialeah Field at 8 a. m., or as soon thereafter as the mail from the West arrives.

The first passengers on this service are expected to make the flight tonight, although the service was only announced today.

The cabin of the big airship is enclosed and passengers will not be compelled to wear extra clothing. Passengers should dress the same as if they intended taking a trip in a closed automobile, according to the officials of the company.

Hialeah Field is in New Jersey, but it is near New Brunswick, where express trains for New York can be secured at frequent intervals. The company's $25 service includes passage only from one flying field to the other.

NEGROES BEING USED IN CHICAGO ELECTION PLOT

Chicago, April 1 (A.P.)—A political plot to fill Chicago's loop with negroes wearing badges that carry the name of William Hays Thompson, Republican's majority candidate, was charged today by the Chicago Tribune as an attempt to influence the city's race riots during the day's election. In a statement Thompson said that he had sent out 10,000 negroes and with the idea of "flooding the loop with negroes" during the election for the purpose of creating race hatred. "We are sure some would be taken to put the person who ordered this work done over my finger signature into the penitentiary."

The annual communion mass of Pere Marquette Council No. 211, Knights of Columbus, St. Augustine's Church, was celebrated today by Rev. Marquette, Catholic Daughters of America, will be celebrated Sunday, at 8:45 at St. Augustine's Church, South Boston.

Rev. Joseph F. Coppinger will be the celebrant. Following the mass the members of both organizations will adjourn to St. Augustine's hall, where breakfast will be served.

NOTES ASSURED TO PASS 'L' CONTROL

Senator Bennett today agreed President Wellington Wells of their body has enough votes to assure passage of his bill for retention of public control of the Boston Elevated Railway for 15 years.

An amendment was drafted today by Senator George C. Pond of Greenfield, by which stockholders would be notified if they do not accept this arrangement by January 1, 1928, the State will terminate public control on July 1, 1928.

"It is important in order to settle the matter once for all," said the senator, "that we should not repeatedly by the same situation."

The Senate will consider the bill Tuesday.

McLAUGHLIN, GUILTY IN DEGREE, TO SPEND LIFE BEHIND BARS

During the seventeen hours and twenty-five minutes the jurors came in twice for instructions, once just before midnight, and the second time at 4:35.

Every seat in the Superior Court room had been taken for nearly an hour when a knock sounded on the door of the room where the jurors—understood to be divided ten to two over the question of degree of murder—had been wrangling in an attempt at decision.

In the courtroom were Mrs. Helen Curry, friend and nurse to Mrs. Norma Benoit, mother of one of the three executed men, and a woman friend.

But the mother of McLaughlin, after keeping a nervous, weary vigil through half the night, had come home to rest, leaving McLaughlin's three mourning-garbed sisters in an ante-room, not using and nothing in anticipation.

When the jury foreman, Stephen Ray of Dover, announced to the waiting court officer that a verdict had been reached, the electric work stopped through the courtroom, bringing a fresh quietness from the McLaughlin sisters. But they covered and would not step into the courtroom.

The jurors, pale, disheveled, red-eyed and showing unmistakable signs of the mental ordeal they had been through, filed into court and as they took their places in the box, Mrs. Curry broke into sobs and buried her face in her handkerchief.

McLAUGHLIN PALE

McLaughlin, himself pale after a restless night that carried over an hour or two of fitful sleep, was in, wearing a gray robe over a white silk muffler.

He too was pale and wan, but his black eyes moved restlessly across the raised faces of the jurors, who appeared a bit diffident and self-conscious as they eyed closely Clerk of Court John Smith who stood back of his desk enclosure while Judge Dubuque was reading himself.

"There is to be no demonstration," Bert Adams as he opened court.

Then Clerk Smith directed McLaughlin to stand up and with his right hand raised, and the clerk addressed Foreman Ray, saying:

"Mr. Foreman and Gentlemen, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have," the foreman answered in a clear voice.

"What is the verdict; is the pris-

"Guilty of what?"
"Guilty of murder in the second degree."
"Guilty of murder in the second degree."

With his hand still upraised, McLaughlin dashed gasps at the faces of the jurors, as if seeking out the men who had kept him from the electric chair. He was pale and he started a bit when he was told he might not sit down again.

IN CONFERENCE

Attorney Douglas, whose face was flushed, hurried over to the prisoner's cage and conferred with McLaughlin, who seemed far over, with his pale face, in vivid contrast against the red of his counsel's, almost pressed against Douglas' cheek.

Then Douglas announced that the defendant would waive objections and would accept the verdict and the automatic sentence. To this Bushnell said:

"The majority of the jurors were unable to win over one or two members to murder in the first degree."

"May it please the court," objected Atty. Douglas instantly, "the district attorney cannot state to the court how many jurors desired murder in the first degree."

Judge Dubuque: "This is a futile argument. I don't see how it can be." Douglas: "The defense waives exceptions. I don't see how it can be subjected to further trial on the charges of being accessory before and after the fact of murder. We will accept the verdict."

The District Attorney then moved for sentence, and Judge Dubuque handed the order of indictment to Clerk Smith and motioned for McLaughlin to stand up with his right hand raised.

ONLY SENTENCE

"There is only one sentence under the law," commented Judge Dubuque as the cause came on.

Clerk Smith then intoned: "The prisoner will hearen to the sentence the court has imposed against you. As a punishment, you are sentenced to the State Prison of Massachusetts for the term of your natural life, the first day to be in solitary confinement and the rest of your life."

The proceedings were ended at 10:10, just twelve minutes after the verdict had been announced in the jury room as reached.

"We consider this a great victory for the defense," declared Atty. Douglas, he being called by the court and conferred with his associates in the trial, attorneys John J. Butler, George Representative Joseph A. Mulhall and John M. J. Hurley.

A total of eleven ballots were ordered to have been cast during the night, the first ballot was cast eight to four for conviction in the first degree. The second went nine to three, with one man on each of the two ballots holding stubbornly for a verdict of not guilty. This situation held until 5 o'clock, when the jury went to supper.

FINAL BALLOT

Later, after receiving instructions, the second degree men commenced to win over three and ultimately four of the others. Here there was a deadlock. Some of the men who favored a second degree verdict at first, voted for acquittal in order to swing the first degree men to their side.

At breakfast time the balloting reached 11 to 1 for second degree. One juror held out for a first degree verdict.

The final ballot was taken after breakfast.

Clerk Ralph Smith, a veteran in the Cambridge court, stated that the deliberations were the longest in any murder trial in the history of Massachusetts.

The jurors were awake all night. They removed their coats and collars, and remained in intense deliberation and argument through the entire night.

"EAT MORE FRUIT" ADS

BOOST BRITISH SALES

London, April 1 (A.P.)—The Fruit Traders' Federation £40,000 (about $100,000) to say "eat more fruit" to the British public last year, but the publicity is worth while, as £2,000,000 more was spent on fruits in 1926 than in 1925.

The figures for the year were £24,783,249 against £22,750,000 in 1925. The heaviest expenditure was in apples, the importation value of this fruit being £3,481,921 in 1926 and £2,541,961 in 1925. The increase in consumption was £184,800 hundred-weight.

FIRST BANGOR SALMON,

12 1/2 POUNDS, BRINGS $27

Bangor, Me., April 1 (A.P.)—The Bangor salmon boat gave in to the city of the season today, the first of the open period. Frank Cowan, a veteran angler of this city, landed a 12 1/2-pound salmon. It was sold to a market for $12.50 a pound.

Fishermen reported early conditions at the pool as unusually satisfactory for a large catch.

PETER McLAUGHLIN'S FATE ENDS TRAGEDY

With the departure of Peter J. McLaughlin for State Prison, the "carban case" virtually came to an end, there remaining only disposition in the matter of Peter V. King, admitted driver of the robber car, who turned State's evidence.

King, although originally indicted for murder as one of the gang in the carban, pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact of robbery. This was after he had agreed to turn State's evidence and the then District Attorney Reading had promised the murder indictment.

The "carban case" had its inception in a Brookline Village poolroom where the robbery was planned, according to testimony, by Peter McLaughlin, John ("Joe") Devereaux and Edward J. Heinlein.

This was early in the evening of October 3, 1925, while rain was drizzling outside. It was because of the rain that a green slicker, owned by Peter McLaughlin, figured so prominently in both trials.

All versions agreed, in the main points, up to the time that Peter King hired a Stutz automobile at a garage in Cambridge and the trip to Waltham was made at approximately 1 a. m. on October 4—Sunday.

WATCHMAN BEATEN TO DEATH

Devereaux remained downstairs in the lobby of the carban. Three men went upstairs with masks and guns. Heinlein and John McLaughlin, brother of Peter, admitted being two of these three.

King said Peter McLaughlin was the other and Peter McLaughlin said it was King.

In the cashier's office approximately $1,500 was scooped into a pillow slip while Devereaux, on guard downstairs, covered two men whom he had ordered to lie face down on the floor.

Some time between the arrival and departure of the robber auto, Devereaux was confronted in the car yard by James Ferneau, aged watchman, and Devereaux fired one shot at him, then clubbed the watchman on the head with the gun.

Ferneau died an hour later in the Waltham Hospital, either the bullet wound or clubbing having been sufficient to cause death, according to medical testimony.

Three days later, following a "tip" whose source is still somewhat a mystery, Devereaux, Heinlein, John McLaughlin, King and Charles R. Pender were arrested in before-dawn raids on their homes by police. Peter McLaughlin fled, but was arrested a year ago in New York.

THREE MET DEATH IN CHAIR

Pender subsequently was released, Bennett was acquitted by a directed verdict and King turned State's evidence.

Devereaux, Heinlein and John McLaughlin went to trial and were convicted, despite the sturdy contention of Devereaux and his plea in court that he alone had killed and should take the blame.

Peter McLaughlin's capture came after the trial and sentencing of the three men to die in the electric chair the week of last August 8.

A fight to save them was begun, with friends and neighbors organizing a clemency committee. At the eleventh hour a court order was secured, staying the execution until the Fall, when Governor Fuller again put it over until January 3, because he was going abroad.

The most remarkable battle ever put up for men under sentence of death was then begun, with Attorney Francis Juggins at its head and backed by the committee.

But the fight proved unavailing and the three men were executed in January while a crowd milled outside the State Prison gates.

Peter McLaughlin went to trial two weeks ago and denied having been at the murder scene at all, although he admitted that he was one of the plotters.

Norma Shearer Likely To Star in "Starlight"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor.

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—That prolific actor, Gladys Unger, has sold Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer the screen rights to "Starlight," a picture in which Norma Shearer will star. It was only natural that Irving Thalberg should be interested in any stage drama written by Miss Unger, since she has been writing some special scenarios for M. G. M.

With the purchase of "Starlight" the question of who will star in the picture arises. Not a clue would they give me at M. G. M. Their secrecy, however, doesn't prevent my doing a little guessing. I have a hunch Norma Shearer is the actress who will play the leading role.

"THE BARKER" APPEARS TO BE one of the Broadway plays that has a claim to motion picture possibilities. Every star and director who has visited New York put in a bid for the screen rights but Richard Rowland, like the early bird, won the prize. He bought the play with George Fitzmaurice in mind as the director.

In order that Fitzmaurice may see "The Barker," as it was presented in New York, he is leaving Tuesday to spend a few weeks between pictures and to get a closeup of this popular circus drama.

On the same train with Mr. Fitzmaurice will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rowland and Mrs. Florence Straus, head of the editorial department. There is a possibility that Bess Meredith, who is to write the scenario of "The House of Montecarlo," may accompany the first National party to New York.

ATHLETICS ARE TO BE GIVEN A BREAK in the movies.

With Charles Paddock, world champion sprinter, as the star it couldn't be otherwise. Charles started taking the camera yesterday in his first athletic film called "The All American."

This is Charles' second movie. His first was "The Campus Fire," opposite Bebe Daniels and incidentally it was while playing opposite Miss Daniels that the story of his engagement to her occupied so much space in the newspapers.

FLAPPER SUFFRAGE IN BRITAIN GETS SETBACK

London, April 1 (A.P.)—Consideration of "flapper suffrage" as an expedient term the vote for women between the ages of 21 and 25, has met with a setback in the councils of the Cabinet. There is a possibility that the government will take no action until the 'twenties of all the political parties are given at a joint conference.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other prominent women suffragists rebuffed their efforts today to get the franchise for women over 21 because it became known after a Cabinet meeting yesterday that consideration of the plan probably would be deferred until the next session of Parliament.

FIND TOMB OF PHARAOHS, 5,000 YEARS OLD, IN EGYPT

Cairo, Egypt, April 1 (A.P.)—What may prove to be the earliest tomb ever discovered in Egypt has been unearthed after long and difficult excavations at the village of Saklaka, not far from the ruins of Memphis. Archaeologists estimate it was built fifty centuries ago in the time of the third dynasty of the ancient Pharaohs.

Cecil Firth, supervising the excavations under the auspices of the Egyptian antiquities department, came upon the tomb at the bottom of a deep stairway through a carefully concealed tunnel in the rock, as though the builders had taken every precaution to prevent discovery.

It may be the tomb of Zoser's queen. The portrait of King Zoser is part of the decoration. Twelve subterranean wine jars were found in one of the tunnels.

He believes, although he has no definite confirmation as yet, that it is the tomb of Imhotep, architect to King Zoser, who built the great pyramid in the boundary wall of which the tomb is located.

Imhotep was considered one of Egypt's wisest men and the founder of the science of medicine, law and other branches of learning.

Another possibility advanced by archaeologists is that the tomb might have provided a temporary resting place for the body of King Zoser himself while the deep pyramid was being constructed, or that

The Best "Ad" in the American?

Probably not. Osgood's furniture advertising is plain and old-fashioned.

It does not hypnotize by its dazzling brilliance nor mislead by slippery enthusiasm.

It is sincere and honest. It is easy to read, which is a big item; and easy to believe, which is more important.

Our advertising must, at all times, describe with precision, portray with accuracy, and convince with honor.

Our purpose is to win friends; not prices. Though in accomplishing the former, we merit the latter.

It is gratifying, really, to know by the expressions of thousands of customers, that our idea of advertising finds favor with so many discriminating buyers of good furniture.

'I'M ALONE' HAD TO FLY TO DODGE COMPANY

Lunenburg, N. H., April 1 (U.S.A.). The cutter set off in pursuit and the long chase of the liquor-laden schooner "I'm Alone" by the American coast guard cutter Harriet Lane was the big topic of conversation along the waterfront today.

The cutter sighted the schooner with 4,000 cases of liquor aboard, 200 miles off Nantuxet. "I'm Alone" hoisted anchors and started away, chased the schooner to her dock here.

The schooner was able to outdistance the cutter because of a good wind in her sails augmented by powerful engines, giving a speed of twelve knots.

The schooner was leaking and was repaired here.

POLICE LISTING ALL WHO VOTE IN BOSTON

Armed with lead pencil and glaring white pad, some 2,300 policemen began today the work of listing occupants in every house in Boston, with special attention directed toward the "militant voters."

All persons over twenty years of age and women, must be recorded in this annual April listing, which is expected to take ten days before the last name has been listed down.

Because of the fast-advancing total of population, the listing policemen expect they will have to work hours overtime before the work is completed.

They have been instructed to give special attention to occupants in lodging houses, with a view of determining whether they are one-day residents for voting purposes. No mattress voters, beware!

FARMER SLAIN, WIFE DYING FROM AXE BLOWS

Buchanan, Mich., April 1 (A.P.). While Michael Zepko, 37-year-old farmer, lay dead in a local hospital, his skill crushed in by axe blows, and his 36-year-old wife, suffering from a fractured skull, fought feebly for life, a corps of deputies today sought Walker Walcott, 30, son-in-law of the slain couple.

"Walker Walcott, hunt him," Mrs. Zepko is said to have whispered.

WOMAN SHAKING RUG IS INJURED IN FALL

While Mrs. Emily Ferand, 62, of Wolcott street, Malden, was shaking a rug on the rear porch of her home today, the rug slipped under her and she fell to the ground, striking on her head. For some time she lay unconscious. Neighbors found her and called for help. A physician found a slight concussion of the brain.

WHAT! YOU REALLY OLD ENOUGH TO VOTE?

Police started out today to list Boston's voters. At the same time tax assessors began ferreting out the city's wealth. Photo shows Patrolman John J. O'Connor questioning Miss Rose Connolly, No. 118 Williams street, Jamaica Plain, as to whether she's a voter.

According to London Lady Astor from Virginia, to say nothing of the great Astor fortune. First, Lady Astor showed British women the way to Parliament. Now she helps to defeat an effort to legalize British race track gambling. She knows that betting on races enriches in Britain, as it does here, an utterly worthless tribe of race track tons, gamblers and horse owners, whose "sport" makes thieves of other men's employees.

A N AUSTRALIAN wants to locate the ideal "Venus" and requests information. He has measured thousands of female beauties and finds the average waist twenty-seven inches. That Australian can find his perfect Venus in a handsome room, all by herself, in the Louvre, in Paris. The Venus de Milo is the perfect woman. The perfect female figure is the one best fitted for motherhood, not for walking the tight rope or turning somersaults.

MISS FANKHURST has lost interest in votes for women, "because voting women make the same mistakes that men make." They do, of course, but human, and sometimes influenced by men. Nobody expected the vote for women would bring on the millennium overnight. But women voting have made men in office ask themselves: "What do the women want? What do the children need?" That's the important thing about votes for women.

In old whiskey days, as soon as women got the vote, district leaders in the great city sent out the order: "Don't get the boys drunk around election time, or their wives and daughters will vote against you."

A N INTERESTING revelation about tiger hunting in Rajahs and other great dignitaries in India reads as follows: "The Rajahs like to be photographed with rows of tigers they have killed, but do not like to be scratched or bitten. The day before the kill, the haunts of tigers marked down are baited with meat heavily drugged. The tigers eat and can barely drag themselves along, when the hunters drive them out to be shot. Thus the royal sportsman's heroism is made pleasantly safe."

PREVENTING Bolshevik allies in large type that under the Czar the masses were similarly drugged and made docile. In their case the drug was religion, which Communism calls "the opium of the people." As a matter of fact, religion is the consolation of the people and their balance wheel, but you can hardly expect Bolshevism to realize that.

150,000 CEASE WORK IN SOFT COAL MINES

Chicago, April 1 (U.S.A.).—Soft coal mining in the unlicensed central competitive field was at a standstill today as 150,000 United Mine Workers suspended work.

The suspension followed failure of union leaders and operators to agree on a wage scale to replace the Jacksonville contract, providing a basic daily wage of $7.50, which expired at midnight.

Mines producing some 125,000,000 tons annually in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Eastern Iowa were affected.

The union's suspension was the first great lay-off of unlicensed soft coal miners since April 1, 1922, when 600,000 United Mine Workers walked off their jobs.

Both sides agree that back of the trouble is the increasingly severe competition of the non-union fields. The operators want the union to accept a cut to meet this competition. The union says that if they meet the cut there would be no assurance West Virginia and Kentucky operators would not again reduce wages.

RECEIVERS FOR WHITE ESTATE

Lowell A. Mayberry, G. Wallace Tibbitts and Edmund J. Bernard, all of Boston, were today appointed receivers for the estate of Norman H. White, publisher and former legislator, by Referee in Bankruptcy Arthur Hink in Federal Court.

White, official of Small, Maynard & Co. and the Boston Bookbinding Co. is now out on $7,500 bail on 27 counts of larceny growing out of loans alleged to have been secured from banks by him on the representation that the two concerns were in sound financial condition.

The publisher filed a bankruptcy petition several weeks ago. United Trust Co. filed for an order of similar petitions by the Boston Bookbinding Co. and Small, Maynard & Co.

Following filing of these petitions the Wadsworth Trust Company suspended, closing three branches of the bank. White is declared to have been interested in this bank.

White subsequently was indicted for larceny and is held for trial. There is a possibility also he may face charges in Maine and in the Federal Court in connection with the bankruptcy revolutions.

Each of the three receivers appointed today put up bonds of $10,000.

Greek Appeals Death Sentence Passed on Socrates, 399 B. C.

Athens, April 1 (A.P.).—The death sentence passed against Socrates in 399 B. C. has been appealed to the Supreme Court.

M. Pandopoulos has undertaken to act as the philosopher's attorney. He declares it was by a misadventure that Socrates was convicted of impiety and corrupting the young and compelled to drink the fatal hemlock. He urges reconsideration of the death verdict passed by the judges of the Athenian democracy against their better judgment.

"The house of Dives requires a certain of the judgment and a judicial declaration of Socrates' innocence," declares Socrates' attorney.

FREE MAYOR OF KISS CHARGE

Bridgwater, Ont., April 1 (A.P.).—Mayor Harry Hall of this city was discharged in court today after a hearing on charges brought by Mrs. Jeanette Gooder that he had violated town laws and attempted to coerce and kiss her.

Much of the evidence introduced by the complaining witness, court ruled, was hearsay and unsupported, and did not justify pressing the charges.

The mayor denied Mrs. Gooder's charges, saying that he had never been in an official position, and it was brought out in court he had advanced $20 to the family to help purchase the plot of ground upon which the home stands.

KILLED BY NEEDLE HE SWALLOWED IN 1891

August Fish, who swallowed a threaded needle, thirteen years ago, has lost his fight for life. Fish, a photo-engraver, died less than a week after the needle, still threaded, had made its way out of his body through his thigh.

Fifteen years ago, Fish began to complain of pains that physicians diagnosed as rheumatic. Last Saturday Dr. C. A. Davis found a small gathering on the patient's thigh and later in the day the end of a threaded needle appeared. Pulled on the thread, Dr. Davis extracted a corroded needle and noted the presence of an unusually large poison.

The family decided that Fish had swallowed the needle as a boy of fourteen when he had like to sew buttons.

PROMOTED ENGINEER DROPS DEAD ON TUGBOAT

Walter Boardman of Roxbury was fated never to attain his ambition of being chief engineer of one of the Boston Tugboat Company's tugs. For years he had been assistant engineer on the tug Charles P. Greenough and only yesterday he was promoted to be chief engineer on the tug Neptune.

While at her moorings at the foot of Dorchester street, Boat Boston, as it is called, was on her deck when he fell dead.

The medical examiner said that death was due to heart failure.

START 3 WEEKS' AUTO 'SAFETY DRIVE' MONDAY

A three-weeks' automobile safety campaign begins next Monday, in Massachusetts, and the first week will be devoted to free brake inspection by experts under the direction of Reginald C. Motor Vehicle Bureau.

Trucks will be tested in Boston in Dorchester street, behind the South Station. In Marlboro street between Dartmouth and Fagier streets, at the Motor Map Garage in Park square, and at Chamberlain's Garage, No. 18 Boston street.

There will be no taking of names or registration numbers if brakes are found to be defective. The tests will be purely for the purpose of informing motorists as to the condition of their brakes, but immediately following brake-testing week motor vehicle registry inspectors will check up along the highways and force drivers with poor car brakes to assist.

One of the first to submit his car for testing on Monday will be Police Superintendent Michael J. Crowley. The police are co-operating with the Massachusetts Safety Council, Governor's Safety Committee, Boston Automobile Club, the fire department and many commercial concerns in the safety campaign.

The second week will be light-testing week and the third non-testing week. The general purpose is to emphasize at the beginning of the motorizing season the necessity for greater caution. In Massachusetts last year 104 were killed and 1,000 injured in highway accidents.

MORGAN'S SALES FORCE AT ANNIVERSARY DINNER

The sales force and officials of The Morgan's Inc., numbering more than 50, celebrated the ninth anniversary of the downtown furniture firm's founding at the Hotel Brunswick with a banquet and entertainment.

The affair was a real jollification with musical and dancing numbers comprising most of the evening's activities.

Edward Ropal, vice-president of the company, outlined warabusiness conditions in the furniture business throughout the country.

J. M. Pullman, controller and general manager, was toastmaster and read a telegram from Albert C. Kahn, president, who is convalescing from an illness at Atlantic City. Sidney B. Ropal, treasurer, spoke of sales and merchandising, and William S. Ropal, sales manager and his assistant, Frank Hinkley, described the sales policy of the anniversary sale beginning next Monday.

James Marans, assistant advertising manager, arranged and directed the entertainment features.

LIGHTNING AND FLOODS KILL SIX IN SOUTHWEST

Kansas City, April 1 (A.P.)—Thunder storms of cloudburst, prodigious and swollen streams had taken six lives and caused heavy property damage in Central Missouri, Northern Oklahoma and southwestern Kansas as farmers left highways today on reports of new flood dangers. Three persons were drowned and three were killed by lightning. The floods followed heavy rains throughout the Southwest Wednesday and yesterday. Waco, Mo., reported 8.4 inches of rain within 48 hours, while precipitation at some Kansas points reached 2.4 inches.

N. E. ROADS NOT HIT BY RAIL DECISION

New England railroads remain

unaffected by the present at least by the Interstate Commerce Commission decision that valuation of railroads for rate making and all other purposes will be based upon costs, prices and wages prevailing during 1914, rather than on the higher levels of later years.

This was the unanimous assertion today of representatives of the Boston & Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads.

The Interstate Commerce Commission decision authorized the railroads to turn over to the government half of all earnings in excess of a per cent, on the basis of the 1914 level.

That a per cent limit is reached, however, will be the determining factor in the valuation of the railroads, since the 1914 figures, plus the 1914 earnings, will be the basis of the valuation.

It would be if the valuation were based on the high level of earnings of subsequent years.

But the Interstate Commerce Commission decision does not require the Boston & Maine because it is not a "common carrier."

It is a "private carrier" and is not subject to the same regulations as the common carriers.

Nevertheless, the Boston & Maine is not a "private carrier" and is not subject to the same regulations as the common carriers.

It is a "private carrier" and is not subject to the same regulations as the common carriers.

Landis Uses Airplane for Long Jump

San Antonio, Tex., April 1 (A.P.)—K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, left for New Orleans by airplane today.

He came to San Antonio early in the week to straighten out the tangled affairs of the defunct Gulf Coast League.

No reason was given for the air trip to New Orleans, which he is making in a Douglas observation plane from Kelly Field.

QUESTION: I know how to fix the date for Christmas, New Years and the Fourth of July—but how do you fix the date for Easter?

ANSWER: See the New Truly Warner Window or figure it out for yourself.

According to the Decree of the Council of Nice, Easter is the first Sunday after the paschal full moon. That is, the full moon that occurs on the day of the vernal equinox, or on any one of the 28 days that follow that date. Consequently, the earliest date when Easter can fall is April 22, and the latest is April 25.

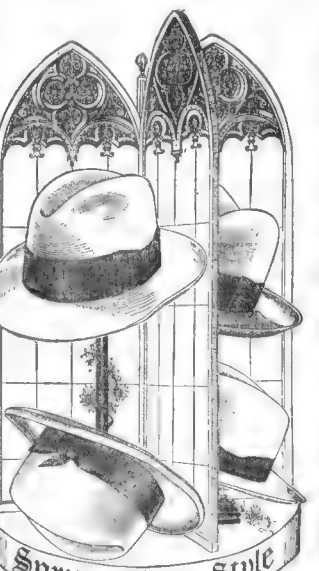

This year the paschal full moon is Saturday, April 16; therefore, Easter is Sunday, April 17.

QUESTION: Is there any reason why I should wait until the next full moon before I buy a new Easter Bonnet?

ANSWER: I should be more influenced by the Sun than the Moon in the purchase of a new Spring hat. The chances are you'll wear it more in the daylight than in the moonlight, and there's going to be a lot of sunshine between now and the next full moon.

Besides, Sunshine is not affected by Moonshine! Don't wait until the Moon gets full.

WINKLER READY TO PLAY

Bruin Coale Injured in Second Hawks' Game; to Be In Net Against Rangers

By TED LYNCH.

Hal Winkler, injured in the second game against Chicago, will be in the Bruins' net tomorrow night at the Arena for the first game of the series with the New York Rangers.

Winkler today carries a big patch about an inch to the side of his right eye, but he will not interfere with his play.

Manager Art Ross signed with relief when he received the doctor's report that the bruise would not have a swollen eye. Two stitches closed the wound caused by Dick Irwin's stick.

"There should be no swelling," said Dr. Shortell. "Winkler has a bad cut, but I believe that it will heal enough so that there will be no swelling."

The other injured player, P. J. Coale, is now as fit as a fiddle. Coale hit the ice with a shoulder. He suffered a fracture of the humerus, which was splinted and will probably keep him out of the game for a week.

The Bruins, now battling for championship of the American division, are anxiously waiting the game with the Rangers. They feel that they can take the New York aggregation.

The Bruins and the Rangers appear to be evenly matched. The natives have outscored their rivals by one goal in the regular league games, but that doesn't indicate any superiority on the part of the natives.

HARVARD FENCERS IN INTERCOLLEGIATES

Captain Outteridge and J. P. Davidson of the Harvard fencing team will go to New York April 8, 9 to compete for the Intercollegiate title in Epées.

In the semi-finals Harvard has already shown its superiority by winning the epée in the N. E. Intercollegiate Fencing Association, Yale, Dartmouth, M. I. T. and Columbia were defeated at New Haven March 15, 19 in the semi-finals.

In this the C. Club's Outteridge won five out of six of his matches and also promise of winning the individual title in April.

RUNYON Says-

THE City of Brotherly Love, which is that dear Philadelphia, has already extended to George Tex Rickard, the eminent fight entrepreneur, a cordial invitation to pitch his next heavyweight championship struggle there.

It seems odd that the city that has heathen heavyweights since the signing of the Declaration of Independence should suddenly become the seat of the largest operations of the division.

You may not know it but when Mr. Timony and Mr. Timony met in the downtown hotel, they established their circle as follows:

(a) For attendance.
(b) For gate receipts.

(c) For being the only heavyweights who escaped being thrown out of Philadelphia.

EVERETT HIGH CANDIDATES IN FIRST PRACTICE GAME

By The Associated Press.
Chicago, Ill., April 1.—The Everett High School baseball team will send the baseball candidates through their first practice game tomorrow afternoon.

Up until now Glendon has not allowed his players to cut loose. Everett has remained chiefly of the opinion that the ball should not be thrown until the candidates are well acquainted with the game.

The practice game will give the players a chance to show their ability. It will give the coach a chance to get a fix on some of the players' material.

Four innings has been played. Among the new players Blake, a catcher, has been showing up well in practice. If this player comes through the catching problem at Watertown will be solved.

STALLINGS PLANS TO RETURN TO BIG SHOW

CAVANNAH, Ga., April 1.—George T. Stallings, who was a miracle man back in Boston in 1914, is going to come back to the big leagues.

"I want to win one more world series before I quit the game," George told us this morning. He is here training his Rochester club, and has a team that will be a very hot contender in the International League. George is perhaps the most picturesque bird in baseball. He's 63 years old or so, but carries right along with the enthusiasm of a kid. He gets so steamed up every day of his baseball life that he should have been dead long ago, but as far as the eye can see and the ear hear, George is just as young as he was when he steered his Braves to glory.

Stallings is a very firm admirer of Bill Carrigan. "Carrigan is a real manager," George explains. "He has the spark and he takes his job as the most serious thing in the world, which it must be for success. He knows the game and studies it, and takes it to bed with him. Any good baseball manager has a twenty-four-hour-a-day occupation, and it runs through the whole year."

"The game keeps improving and competition getting keener. There's only a hair's difference between a winner and loser. The percentage boys get the money. We won a pennant with the Braves by stealing fifteen of twenty games that year."

"It takes constant study by manager and players to get the co-ordination that's necessary for that kind of baseball. I like the minor league game well enough, but there's nothing in the world like the kick one gets from coming through in the big show. I hope and expect to feel it once more."

George is as enthusiastic as an undergraduate about his own ball players. He has two former winners, Rabbit Maranville and Heinie Groh, both of whom he claims are better than most of the boys in the big league, but he has a few kids, and they worry him.

"Many a good kid player has been ruined," George offers, "by being put in to play regularly when he might have been sitting on the bench when a slump hit him. The start means everything to a youngster, and once a boy gets 'down at the start,' he's likely to stay that way. I like to play the young fellows, but I want to have old birds around to stick in when the novices show signs of cracking."

Tunney Pays Tribute to People on West Coast—They Learn Gene Is Not Really "High Hat," But Only Mob-Shy

ONE of the happiest recollections of my life will always be my theatrical tour through the Pacific Northwest and down the California slope.

For there—and also in British Columbia—I met some real and wonderful people, whose acquaintanceship and friendship I shall ever cherish.

At that region that tends from Vancouver, B. C., down to Los Angeles, is something that might be called "mob-shyness." It is a feeling that I have met some real and wonderful people, whose acquaintanceship and friendship I shall ever cherish.

W. G. A. TEAMS TO BE BUSY

By STEED CHANDLER

The Women's Golf Association of Boston will swing into action in a fortnight when the first semi-weekly tour match will be played. There are to be ten of these between that time and May 16, and they will be played Mondays and Tuesdays of each week.

These matches, however, comprise only one form of activity in which the fair golfers will participate. There schedule for 1927 is a full one and will keep them busy from beginning to end.

The Boston District Championship is scheduled to be held from May 23 to May 27 at the Woodland Golf Club, while on the first of June a special meeting of the association will be held at Brae Burn.

On this occasion, announcement will be made of the players selected to compete in the intercity matches against New York and Philadelphia. The intercity tournament will be held this year at Belmont Springs following the Eastern Championship.

P. B. Von Olck of Brae Burn and Miss Dorothy Van Olck will defend their title as champions of the Western on June 15. Weston comes back into the picture in the Fall when the mixed foursome championship of the M. G. A. and the Women's Golf Association of Boston will be held September 27, October 1.

Telesco will be turned over to the ladies October 4 for the Massachusetts championship team matches. The following captains have been named for the teams: Brae Burn, Miss Frances Trebbins; the Country Club, Miss Edith Stevens; Central, Miss Thelma Winsor; Northern, Mrs. B. D. Waxman; Providence, Mrs. L. W. Harris; Southern, Mrs. C. F. Eaton, Jr.

Joe Walcott Could Outpunch Roberts

By Jack Conway

THE boys are all steamed up over Eddie Roberts, the Tacoma, Wash., knockout sensation who battles Al Mello at the Arena on next Monday night," opined Mr. Boston as he paddled into the sporting department today. "They are hailing Roberts as the hardest hitting welterweight that ever pulled on a padded glove," resumed the veteran. "I don't question but what Roberts can sock. He proved this much when he stopped Joe Dundee with a punch and later ruined Sailor Friedman and Jack Zivie."

"I won't remain silent, though, when an attempt is made to rate Roberts as the king of welterweight punchers. I ask 'What about Joe Walcott?' I think that baby was the daddy of 'em all when it came to sending the opposition to the canvas. 'They used to call Joe 'The Little Giant Killer.' Although only a welterweight, he stepped in and knocked out heavyweights like Joe Chynoweth. He has a terrific punch in either hand. Joe devoted most of his time to battling middleweights and light heavyweights. While a job he did on those birds. 'When Tom O'Rourke first became manager of Joe, he was plotting George Dixon, world's featherweight champion. He took Joe on tour with the 'Little Choochoo.' He would live up his act by having Walcott tackle allcomers. He was as successful at this stunt as was John L. Sullivan. The bigger the opposition was the easier Walcott tipped it over."

"WALCOTT made only one serious mistake during his ring career. That was when he attempted to make 145 pounds for a bout with Kid Lavigne, world's lightweight champion. At the time Walcott aspired to be champion in two classes. The low weight welterweight Joe and he was beaten by Lavigne. Walcott later lost his welterweight championship to Henry McElroy, the old Charleston favorite. 'Roberts is the first real puncher to come to the front in the welterweight since the old-time boxing days of Walcott. Ted Low and Jack Britton were purely class boxers, while Mickey Walker and Fats Lane got up there by sheer ruggedness."

"HAYE heard quite a number of the 'wise boys' panning Billy Gold, a man for shoving Mello against such a tough bird as Roberts. I think those individuals are all wrong. 'Mello has proved he is capable of taking care of himself in any company. He is a pretty rugged young man himself and can punch with either hand. He also has got to the turning point of his career. He must now take on the boxers who have national standings. If he gets by Roberts, he can walk right into a match with the winner of the Lase-Dundes affair which is on the cards for New York in June. 'Mellonville I want the word to know that if Joe Walcott could outpunch Roberts or any welterweight that ever lived."

Waffle Variations "You Said It, Marceline!" and Tricks in Making Them

By MARCELINE

BEAT it! The waffle is the most popular of the hot breakfast foods. It is a delicious, fluffy, golden-brown treat that is enjoyed by all ages. The secret to a perfect waffle is in the batter and the cooking process. The batter should be light and airy, and the waffle should be cooked until it is golden brown and crisp. There are many variations on the basic waffle recipe, and each one has its own unique flavor and texture. Some people like their waffles with a dusting of powdered sugar, while others prefer them with a drizzle of syrup. The possibilities are endless. So, the next time you are looking for a quick and easy breakfast idea, try making a batch of waffles. You won't be disappointed.

"Say! Mother, I didn't know Just chops could taste so good!"

SAME old pork chops for dinner. Sonny "turns up his nose" as he says. But after a few mouthfuls, a look of pleased surprise flashes over his face.

"Say! Mother, I didn't know Just chops could be so good," he exclaims. And Daddy echoes his remark.

The secret? Mother seasoned the chops, before cooking, with Gulden's Mustard. She spread both sides with a generous layer of Gulden's, and then placed on the fire. As they cooked, the millions of atoms of flavor spread throughout the chops, adding new zest and fresh appeal.

This magic seasoning, when used in cooking, works wonders with all kinds of meats, vegetables, sauces and gravies. Gulden's is a delightful blending of the world's finest mustard seeds with delicate spices. It is the one complete seasoning for cooking, all ready to use. Only in Gulden's do you get that perfect combination of rich, mellow spices with the lively little mustard seed. It's scintillating but not harsh or biting.

SOMETIMES IT PAYS TO TAKE A CHANCE

At times you wonder at the chances successful men take. The fact that they are so often successful you attribute to luck. You remember that some of your chances have turned out anything but successful. But in your unsuccessful chances did you give plenty and thought to the matter? Did you consider the possible things that might have and plan to avoid or counteract them? Did you plan how you would surmount these unavoidable difficulties the chances you were taking? Successful men must take chances but they have a definite program of what to do in case things go wrong. Despite the best arrangement there is always an element of chance in important undertakings. To a great extent the odds are not in your favor. It is not always safe in making a certain effort.

ROMANY LOVE

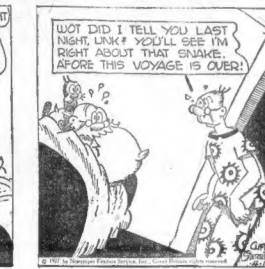

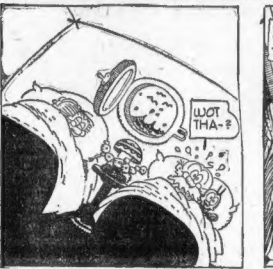

By L. M. Blake

"Only trouble, always trouble," she announced solemnly. "O'Toole looked grim. 'We'll have to see about that. Now a chap called The Gypsy Troubadour is playing at the Pen Theatre this week. I know him, and I think he's your stranger friend. Anyway we'll call up and find out.' Several minutes later O'Toole was talking over the wire with Constance Murnane. 'You were at the camp, and you remember the girl distinctly. You think she has left?' 'She is wonderful,' the Troubadour replied with enthusiasm. 'She has personality. I can use her in my act for atmosphere, as well as to do a bit of dancing.' 'Good,' said O'Toole. 'Come on over to the Detention Room and sign her upon contract. Then I'll have her released to you. But no funny business. Get her.' 'Her husband?' the Troubadour protested. 'He will not take her if he objects. She is divine! But—' 'Don't worry about Stanley,' O'Toole interrupted. 'This morning he traded silver with a farmer. The one he got rid of had a burn on his end, and the one he got had no burn. But he didn't find that out until he tried to make a turn on the Skyline Drive just out of town. There will be a gypsy funeral in a day or two.' 'O'Toole hung up the receiver and faced the wondering girl. 'Is it true?' she questioned. 'What you said?' 'All of it. And from the way Murnane talked, there is no excuse for your not finding cleanliness and happiness providing you play your cards right. As for that fortune-telling business,' O'Toole growled, 'forget it! The trouble was not in your hand but your head.' 'Later in the day O'Toole stood, as was his habit, in a back street restaurant managed by a friend. A bowl of weak soup was placed before him. He eyed it speculatively. 'That gypsy girl,' he mused, 'said something about a large body of water. Probably this is it.'

THE MEDITATIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN--BY HELEN ROWLAND

There are six days for the sweet young girl who goes to the big window city, prepared to resist temptation and ready to "cut out for the wive in sleep's clothing."

It is a shocking disappointment to be all armed for a noble struggle, and then to discover that there is nothing to struggle against.

For alas, there are no more wicked wive's waiting to devour Little Red Riding Hood.

No longer is woman "pursued" by a bad, bold man, and her way must be "pitted" and champagne and diamond bracelets. The only lightless men she meets in the city are the landlord who demands her rent in advance, and the subway guard who demands the price in her face.

These dull, prosaic days, most business men are merely asleep in their clothing, which they wear to frighten the women away!

Cover the masculine "wolf" and skin him, and you will find Mary's Little Lamb, trembling and bleating for mercy; begging not to be led to the matrimonial altar and offered up as a sacrifice.

When man ran after woman, he had to resort to "wiles" and liquor and discipline to disarm her. Now that woman has man on the run, he has to resort to tricks and frauds to escape her!

When man goes forth, they wrap their wive's clothing around them, and grow manly again at any sign of feminine familiarity.

In their office they have counterparts in the form of office boys, secretaries, janitors and telephone operators to ward them off a feminine attack, and KIDNAP them in their dens until the dinner is over and the evening has departed.

It is all very pathetic! It is harder for an innocent, hopeful girl to get to the private office of a big business man, a theatrical manager or an editor, than it would be for her to get out of the Ritzmere dining-room without paying her check.

And even when she DOES manage to shove past his stern-eyed lady secretary and his snuffy office-boy, she is not to find the "wolf" cowering in his den and giving her gaspingly instead of waiting to devour her.

Alas, Daphne's Diamond is no more and Daphne's Desolation is not depend on the absence of her knees or the dimple in her chin, to get her a job or a luncheon invitation.

The modern "wolf" is mostly "wooly" and awfully heavy of being SLEAZEBAG.

The girl who goes to the big city looking for work is usually ready to find just that--WORK! No ad-vertisement.

STUBBORN, UN-SIGHTLY PIMPLES ON FACE AND BACK Skin now clear and smooth

Doubt, Md., July 13.—"Three or four years ago my face and back broke out with pimples and blackheads. When I picked or pressed them they would get very sore and burn. I tried several kinds of cold cream, but none of them helped a bit. Then I happened to see your advertisement and thought I would try Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. Within a few weeks I had not a pimple or blackhead at all and now my face is nice and smooth. I have also found Resinol Soap very refreshing after coming in out of the sun or wind." (Signed) Miss M. E. Palmer.

If you are troubled with a rough, pimply skin, ask your druggist to day for Resinol Soap and Ointment, and see what an improvement a week's use will make.

MEDBURY SAYS

By JOHN F. MEDBURY

It is April the first and should be a national holiday in memory of the thousands of people who have tried to beat railroad trains to crossings and poked around in gasoline tanks with matches.

BARNUM said there was one born every minute, but in the last few years the birth rate has increased.

WELLS there are millions of men people in the country a lot of them are having a hard time proving it.

ONE man had plenty of brains, but they were in his wife's trunk.

HE enjoys being dumb. He says he can get in all the places he wants and nobody can ever knock him out.

HE still is smarter than a tax and full of college boys.

HE works for the Ford Motor Car Company. They use his head as a model for vacuum tanks.

HE's optimism is dormant. He has to get somebody else to have his headache for him.

HE'S the sort of fellow who would go out of his mind at a moment's notice.

THIR last time he was unconscious they had to give him chloroform to bring him to.

THURSDAY nothing in his head but space. He keeps his list on by a string.

HE tried to sit in the train the other day by going to a minor reader.

HE'S so dumb that he could have a brain storm and his wife wouldn't even be damp.

HE's aptly had two ideas in his head and neither one of them were his.

HE said he was born thirty-seven years ago, but he didn't give the reason.

HE'S a self made man, but he left the attic unfinished.

HE'S wife doesn't bother about getting a divorce because she's perfectly married to nobody.

INTELLIGENCE is a wonderful thing, but according to his chronologist census taken last April Fools' day, there are millions in this country than there are stars.

Reno, Too, Has Gold Rush

Weepah Not the Only Town in Nevada Which Attracts the Gold Diggers

The tide of battle between Reno and Paris for divorce supremacy seems to be veering back toward the Nevada city, although Paris is slightly ahead in the recent running, according to estimates.

The State of Nevada has passed a new law shortening the residence period. It is now necessary to live in Nevada only three months to become a fit candidate for divorce, instead of six months. Just a few days ago Reno broke her own record. Forty-eight divorce suits were filed in forty-eight hours.

Paris seems to be well on the way to defeat in the separation race, although it still has advantages. In Paris they will grant divorces for such crimes as refusing to take the dog for a walk in the park or for walking into milady's bondoir with muddy shoes.

The regulations at Reno are a little stricter, which makes the American victory the more sweet. In Reno a wife cannot get a divorce on any charge less serious than that her husband refused to take her to the theatre.

Weepah is, then, not the only Nevada town to have a gold rush. The Reno rush may prove much the more important as to the amount retrieved by gold diggers in the shape of alimony.

However, that is not the main idea. Our supremacy over France in the quantity production of divorces again illustrates American efficiency. It is something, of course, to be proud of.

Egging Him On

DANGEROUS SHOALS IN INVESTING SEA

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ANDREW W. MELLON, Secretary of the Treasury, has given eleven maxims for American investors.

Each year hundreds of millions are lost to investors because they do not follow the common-sense suggestions which Mr. Mellon lists.

Few people ever become wealthy by saving alone. It is through wise and judicious investment that financial independence is arrived at.

Much more emphasis in the past has been put upon saving than upon learning how to invest. These eleven cautions are eleven lighthouses marking the most dangerous shoals in the sea of investment:

- 1—Don't buy stock in mines you know nothing about.
- 2—Don't trifle with oil wells unless you are rich and can afford to lose.
- 3—Be wary of stock-selling schemes involving rights to new inventions. "A patent may be a right to a lawsuit."
- 4—If you buy property, buy something close at home that you can see.
- 5—Look out for new companies that are going to sell by mail.
- 6—New manufacturing methods promising alluring profits to investors should be carefully investigated.
- 7—Don't make your investments in a hurry; sleep over them.
- 8—Beware of special inducements, such as stock bonuses. They are frequently traps.
- 9—Discredit tips on the stock market that are straight from the inside. If they are really good, you'll never be let in.
- 10—Don't speculate or buy stocks on a margin.
- 11—Don't put your money into another man's dreams. Someone has said that saving is a habit, but investing is an art. However it is an art that can be learned if one will use care and accept the advice of those who are experienced.
- 12—As a groundwork in the art of investing, no better eleven suggestions can be found than these offered by the Secretary of the Treasury.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALICE MICHAEL
FERT not for any days gone by,
Nor grief or wrong they held;
Past deeds must with rights abate
As, by dawn's fair glow dispelled.
Olive not Unchanging rests
The past, what has been done is Done, new issues rise, new promise
We springs up with each day's sun.
Though, if each day's more we fill
With deeds of good intent, the boundless Hope, the conquering will, the dauntless effort spent, all these upon the scales are laid when Justice adds the score; forget the part you may have played in days that are no more. For, greater of all horrors men hold is this: with each morning sun new vistas to their eyes unfold, New labors are begun. That which is past forgotten then; tale, then, the the onward way, no specter of dead hopes need rise to bar your way today!

CONFUSION
AN odd confusion of identities occurred when MRS. MARGUERITE CLEMENT of Paris arrived in BOSTON to speak before the Old South Meeting House Forum. Not a few Bostonians thought the speaker was to be MISS MARGUERITE CLEMENT, Boston sister who received her vocal training in the studio of Jean De Renda. MRS. CLEMENT, however, is professor of French language and literature at the Lycee de Versailles, and is a member of the editorial staff of l'oeuvre de Paris. MISS CLEMENT, who lives on NEWBURY STREET, has a studio in Steinert Hall.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ON the last day of June I'm going to lock my office and spend at least six weeks in the cool air.
I'm going to do this because, during that time, the annual crop of graduates from "Journalism Courses" will begin to look for a job.

Now, it isn't the boiler of such inflation that I mind—it's the pity of it! The tragedy of wasted energy and ambition which these young lives represent!

Something ought to be done about these Courses in Journalism. They're only the passing of a law which will force the instructors to tell the truth.

For the last ten years such courses have been springing up like mushrooms in our High Schools and Colleges. And all courses are crammed with exact students. The writing career, especially newspaper writing, is intensely alluring to modern youngsters. To their ardent imaginations it appears to have all the desirable perquisites of 20th century life—speed, color, excitement, profit and large publicity. Nor do the Courses in Journalism dim this illusion. They are usually conducted by gentlemen and ladies who have failed to make the literary grade themselves but who naturally do not mention this fact.

What happens? Increasingly more of visionary youngsters enroll annually in writing courses to which they devote four or eight years of their own time and their parents' money. They sit about learning to write as they would learn the sitting of concrete. They read certain books, learn certain formulas, and compose a number of painfully fabricated articles and stories, which follow those formulas. Their instructors encourage them—their relatives writers. You can make plumbers, butchers, farmers or foresters—or even poets, lawyers and doctors. The second reason why most graduates from Journalism Courses are fabled to be failures is because newspaper staffs are so limited that they can only accommodate a very small number of even talented or experienced people. No industry in the world is operated with so few workers in comparison with the size of the output.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Happy the man who has been able to learn the causes of things.—Vergil.
The virtue of justice consists in moderation, as regulated by wisdom.—Aristotle.
A man should endeavor to be as patient as a reed, yet as hard as cedarwood.—Thalmond.
And what after all is elevating matter? Altogether vanity.—Alopius.
One thing is certain and the rest is lies: The flower that once has blown for ever dies.—Omar Khayyam.
Delays always breed danger.—Cervantes.
The greatest miracle of love is the cure of coquetry.—La Rochefoucauld.
No crime has been without a precedent.—Seneca.
It is always those who are ready who suffer in delays.—Lanté.
Prosperity asks for fidelity; adversity exacts it.—Seneca.
Ye who write, choose a subject suited to your abilities.—Horace.
Familiarity breeds contempt.—St. Thomas Aquinas.

What Do You Know?

BOSTON'S ORIGINAL KNOWLEDGE TEST

If you have any "know it all" friends, try them with these questions. It will show how they rank on such matters of general information as supply the missing word:

- 1—Land of the ———— pride.
- 2—"More things are wrought by prayer; This world is of ———— Tenonion."
- 3—"Good name in man or woman, dear my lord, Is the immediate ———— of their souls."—Shakespeare.
- 4—"Look in the drawer of the night table and see if the radio is turned on."—The answer.

Decide whether the words in pairs mean nearly the same or the opposite:

1. Acquiesce ———— Comply
2. Oath ———— Money
3. Droop ———— Revive
4. Hamard ———— Risk
5. Perille ———— Sterile

Which statements are false? Which are true?

6. The fadoque is the yoke of the ox.
7. Madeira is often served by coquetries.
8. Copper is used for trolley wire.
9. The longest day of the year is in June—December—April—September.
10. Robin Hood was dressed in black—red—green—blue.
11. The longest day of the year is in June—December—April—September.
12. Louisiana was purchased from the English—Spanish—Mexican—French.

Send tomorrow's paper to verify your results.
